The Chair Pusher Pictured.

CHICAGO, May 26.—The first shot in the Sunday opening fight has been fired. District Attorney Milchrist, following a conference with Attorney General Olney in Washington, has sent a lengthy telegram of instructions to Assistant District Attorney Hand in Chicago. That official has already begun the work of drawing up a bill for injunction restraining the World's Fair officials from opening the gates Sunday. The application for an injunction will be filed in the United States district court as soon as completed.

A LARGE CONTRACT. unveiled a bust of her famous sister, Harriet Beecher Stowe, in the library room. Mr. Douglass heard of the proposed ceremony and asked to be permitted to stand as Uncle Tom. Mrs. Hooker gladly consented and the distinguished representative of the race for which Mrs. Stowe wrote was notified that the event would take place. The bust of Mrs. Stowe was made by Annie Whitney of Boston, the sculptor who made the statue of Samuel Adams at Washington and Martineau at Wellesley college. The representation of Mrs. Stowe is said to be an excellent likeness.

The statue of "Germania," in the Agricultural hall, was unveiled in the presence of a large crowd of people by Imperial Commissioner Wermuth. It is one of the marvels of the German agricultural exhibit, and is chiseled out of a luge block of chocolate. It is 11 feet high and a reproduction of the famous Die Niederwald monument. In the statue are 2,960 pounds of chocolate.

Over the Russian Exhibit.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—The remainder of the great Russian exhibit for the World's fair arrived here in the British steamship Wivenhoe, Captain R. D. Clark, which left Hamburg on April 26. The exhibit is packed in 231 cases and packages. Captain Clark relates an experience of the voyage which he does not care to have repeated. He says that among the Russian exhibits were 10 cases of chemicals consigned to Queen & Co. of Philadelphia, from Joseph Reckerman & Co. of Hamburg. The notice on the top of each case stated that they were not dangerous, so they were placed on deck. On the third day out from Cardiff, at which port the Wivenhoe stopped for coal, a gale sprung up and raged throughout the night. As he was going aft about daybreak he was astounded to see the whole afterpart of his ship one solid mass of fire. Flames leaped from the deck and apparently from the hold, and swept the towering masts. Both sea and storm at the same time were very violent.

Captain Clark felt that his craft was doomed. Just then a tremendous wave struck the Wivenhoe, throwing her on her beam ends. Darkness also took possession of the deck—the leaping flames had disappeared. A hasty examination was made to see if the hold was on fire but it was ATLANTA, May 23, 2 The circuit court of the United States is in session here, with Justice Howell Jackson presiding, for special hearing of the petition of Alexander Brown & Sons and Simon Borg & Co. of New York to intervene in the suit of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company of New York vs. the Central Railroad and Banking Company of Georgia and for a New York vs. the Central Railroad and Banking Company of Georgia, and for a stay of proceedings to foreclose the five millions tripartite bonds of the Central Southwestern and Macon and Western companies past due last January, and $1,200,000 of which are in the hands of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company for collection. of the deck—the leaping flames had disappeared. A hasty examination was made to see if the hold was on fire but it was not, nor was there a sign of the ironbound cases that were shipped at Hamburg. The bills of lading were gotten out to see what they had contained, and to the skipper's astonishment he learned from them that he had been carrying natrium metallic, or, as it is commonly known, metal sodium, a chemical used by photographers, and which burns when exposed to air or water. The cases had been carried overboard into the boiling sea.

The case is one of vital interest to the future of the Central railroad system and the proposed Hollins syndicate plan for its reorganization. The case excites wide-spread attention through the south and in railroad circles of the country. If the intervention is sustained by Justice Jackson it will defeat the Hollins plan of reorganization of the Central railroad and stay the foreclosures of the main stem and editional foreclosures of the main stem and affiliated roads that are also in default by reason of the Central's failure to pay the interest guaranteed on their bonds, and opens the whole case to a legal settlement of every form of indebtedness and their priorities before a sale of the scale and their priorities. before a sale of the road can be ordered and

Meanwhile if this stay is ordered the Meanwhile if this stay is ordered the system will be in the hands of receivers appointed by the court. The Richmond Terminal company is backing the intervenors in their fight to break up the foreclosure which is the prime factor in the proposed Hollins reorganization. If the intervention is upheld it is presumed the next move will be to revoke the ruling of District Judge Spier that the Terminal's 42,000 shares of Central stock are illegally held, have them reinstated as voting stock and thus permit this majority Terminal interest to control the future reorganizainterest to control the future reorganiza

The fight now on promises to be a battle royal over a $20,000,000 stake, and the case will probably be on for two weeks. Justice Jackson presides, assisted by Judge Speer. Ex-Secretary of the Navy Tracy, United States Senator Butler, Patrick Calhoun, Hon. A. Bacon, Lawton & Cunningham of Savannah, Leopold Wallach of New York, and about twenty other legal celebrities and about twenty other legal celebrities are present as counsel for the parties inter-ested.

FEMALE MOONSHINER.

Farmer of Boston, one of the pioneers in modern application of electricity to industrial uses, died of pneumonia, aged 73 years. Although Professor Farmer has been in feeble health for some time his death was unexpected. He came here from Boston last October to witness the triumphs at the Columbian exposition of the sciences he had made his life study.

Miss Farmer will take the remains to Eliot, where the funeral will take place. When the science of electricity first attracted attention Professor Farmer began experimenting with it and was probably one of the first experimenters to put it to practical use. He succeeded in making a motor which was capable of moving a car. This was the first electric railway known, though it was impracticable because of the great expense attending the production of the current by means of batteries. The most practical application of the subtle current made by Professor Farmer was the fire alarm telegraph with which he equipped the city of Boston. From this and other inventions he derived a large revenue in royalties, his inventions being still in use. Professor Farmer brought to Chicago his electric railway and other early inventions which are installed as curiosities in the Electric building.

Killed After Many Crimes. Arrest of an Intelligent but Dangerous Woman In West Virginia.

Woman In West Virginia.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 26.—A batch of desperate moonshiners in McDowell and Wyoming counties, W. Va., have been arrested. Among the lot is Bettie Price, about 30 years old, and who has every appearance of being able to take care of herself in a rough and tumble fight or a shooting. It is said she has given the federal authorities as much trouble as any man who has carried on moonshining in her section of the state. The woman talks very intelligently, and says that she would never have been caught had she not been betrayed by her enemies, who went before the United States grand jury and had her indicted just for spite work. One of the guards said that Bettie was a dangerous woman to fool with, and was apt to use a firearm at the least provocation. It is charged she has sold thousands of gallons of liquor to the miners about Bluefield, who seem to have an affection for her. who seem to have an affection for her.
